Business news of atecom... "atecom has won the tender of Telefonica O2 (Czech Republic)"

In June 2008, atecom announced that it has been selected to supply "FALCON" multi-service network adaptors to one of the world leading operators in the telecommunication industry Telefonica O2, in order to build a Digital Terrestrial Television (DTT) network in the Czech Republic. Tomas Dratva, Telefonica O2 project manager says: "We have chosen atecom to deploy Falcon redundant multi-service network adaptors as we believe that these units will enable Telefonica O2 to successfully expand its DTT network". "This awarded contract is further evidence that our DVB-T transport solutions are receiving a very positive feedback from the market", says Bernd Leister, atecom's CEO. "We are proud to offer our network solutions to one of the world's largest telecommunication companies", he adds.

More possibilities Enhanced port density for "Birdie" series

Based on our success model "Birdie DV-1", we will soon offer our customers a 16-port ASI <-> IP adapter for encapsulation and de-encapsulation of MPEG compressed Transport Streams (TS) over IP networks. "Birdie DV-1-16" will be available end September 2008.

More user-friendliness The new firmware releases are now available
